Dinkins Heads Largest City/Wilder First Black Governor

by Jean Denny

New York City received its first Black Mayor on Tuesday, November 7, 1989 as Democrat David Dinkins won the mayoral race over Republican Randolph Giuliani. In New York, with 99 percent of the precincts reporting, Dinkins had 898,373 votes or 50 percent and Giuliani had 855,568 votes or 48 percent. Calling the election of Dinkins a historical event, Giuliani, a former attorney making his first bid for political office, called for everyone to unify behind the new mayor of New York City.

Dinkins, 62, a Manhattan borough president ran as a man who could bring racial harmony to the city of New York. John Daniels, the democrat, was also elected as the first Black Mayor of New Haven, Connecticut becoming the first Black Mayor in a major white majority city.

L. Douglass Wilder, democrat from Virginia, has claimed victory over republican, Marshall Coleman in his bid to become the first elected African American governor of the United States.

Wilder, the grandson of slaves, held on to a slender lead over Coleman and claimed victory in his remarks to supporters. Recounts will have to be done because of the difference in votes totals in the 1 percent or less category. Some observers say recounts may take weeks. Official certification of the vote is not scheduled until November 27, 1989. A second

Some Community Leaders Angered

NAACP/Police Agreement

Last fall, the National Association For the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), San Bernardino Branch, and the City of San Bernardino Police Department agreed to participate in a series of meetings to address issues and proposals regarding relations between the Police and minority citizens. The proposals and issues were developed by the NAACP, with the assistance of the Department of Justice, Community Relations Services Branch who took part at the request of the NAACP. Mr. Vermont McKinney, serving as the Senior Regional Mediator from the Community Relations Service (CRS), of the United States Department of Justice convened and facilitated the discussions. The agreement has the community split. Mr. Willie Garrett, NAACP active member was upset because the body had voted against the signing. He said he feels betrayed. Councilwoman Valarie Pope Ludlam said Mayor Holcomb signed the agreement without her knowledge. (Ludlam campaigned on the issue of police brutality and to get rid of the former police chief.) Garrett feels the agreement should have been aired in the community.

The participants considered eight items to explore as sources of possible tension and misunderstanding. The eight items are: 1. Efforts by the City of San Bernardino and its Police Department to recruit minority candidates for employment with the Police Department. 2. Examine the policies and practices pertaining to the selection of minority candidates to the Police Department, which includes testing, screening, and evaluation of candidates. 3. To develop opportunities within the Police Department for the advancement of minority employees, including training, testing, evaluation, and other selection policies and procedures. 4. Reaffirmation of the Police Department's policies and practices regarding discipline for racial slurs and discriminatory behavior. 5. Efforts to improve race-relations within the San Bernardino Police Department. 6. Seek ways to improve the confidence of citizens in the handling of their complaints, with regard to alleged Police misconduct and excessive use of force. 7. Develop methods for positive officer contacts with minority citizens. 8. Review the Police Department's Use of Force Policies. Also examined were the needs and responsibilities of both the Police Department and the minority community.

A review committee has been established, composed of representatives for the Mayor's Office, the Police Department, and the San Bernardino Branch of the NAACP. The committee will meet quarterly to review the implementation and progress of these proposals.

Daniel A. Robbins, Chief of the San Bernardino Police Department, stated that the agreement provides specific directions for the Police Department's interaction with the minority community. He also stated that these efforts demonstrate the Police Department's sincerity in its continuing pursuit to improve relations between the Police Department and the minority community.

Funeral Rites For Mildred Brown, Omaha Star, Publisher

Funeral services for Mildred D. Brown, owner and publisher of The Omaha Star newspaper and a former top official of the National Newspapers Publishers Association, were held last Monday at St. John's AME Church in Omaha, Nebraska.

Mrs. Brown, labeled as one of "the damnest Civil Rights fighter" in the history of Omaha, died in her sleep November 1st, according to one of her top assistants.

"She had been ill, off and on, but not bedridden. We never expected her to die so suddenly," the assistant added.

A native of Birmingham, Alabama, Mrs. Brown moved to Omaha in 1936 and taught school two years before she founded the newspaper 51 years ago.

Educated at Miles College in Birmingham, Morningside College in Sioux City and Drake University, both in Iowa, Mrs. Brown notices the lack of an adequate number of Black teachers in Omaha's school system and persuaded authorities to recruit African American faculty members from various southern colleges.

"Some of those teachers who were persuaded to move to Omaha are now in top school positions, including being administrators and principals," the publisher's assistant added.

"She also played a major role in opening up public accommodations in Omaha, in addition to being in the forefront of several other Civil Rights struggles that helped to improve the lifestyles of Black Americans," he added.

A recipient of numerous awards for "outstanding community services," Mrs. Brown was appointed by President Lyndon B. Johnson as a "goodwill ambassador" to East Germany to investigate alleged human rights violations following the construction of the Berlin Wall.

She is survived by a brother Bennie Brown, three nephews, Bennie Jr. of Chicago, Fred Washington of Omaha, and Andrew Brown of Los Angeles; and two nieces, Kathryn Battiste of Chicago and Dr. Marguerita Washington of Omaha.

Poll Shows Most Smokers Believe They Are Addicted And Likely To Develop Lung Disease

Despite a nearly universal view among smokers that they will develop serious lung problems if they continue smoking, they continue to light up.

Eighty-three percent of American smokers interviewed in a national survey believe they are at risk for emphysema and chronic bronchitis, and two-thirds of them consider themselves addicted to smoking.

Chronic obstructive lung disease, which includes emphysema and bronchitis, is the fifth leading cause of death in the United States," said Roger Bone, M.D., chief of Pulmonary and Critical Care Medicine at Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center in Chicago. "And its prevalence as a cause of death continues to grow faster than any other cause of death."

The survey also showed that only 18 percent of smokers said they would seek medical help when trying to quit.

"As physicians," Dr. Bone added, "we need to reach our patients who smoke and let them know there are medically supervised programs available to help them quit."

The survey revealed Americans' fatalism about smoking: 44 percent of current smokers, and 52 percent of heavy smokers (more than a pack a day) believe they have already damaged their lungs as a result of smoking.

"Clearly smokers know and feel the harmful effects of cigarettes," said Sharon Jaycox, Manager of Smoking or Health Programs at the American Lung Association. "The real challenge is not only to motivate more smokers to quit, but also to encourage those who have made an unsuccessful quit attempt to try again."

The survey interviewed

1,000 adult Americans, including 336 current smokers. The margin of error among all respondents is plus-or-minus 3.1 percent, and among smokers, the margin of error is plus-or-minus 5.4 percent.

The survey was conducted by the Wirthlin Group, a national public opinion research firm based in McLean, Virginia and was funded by Boehringer Ingelheim Pharmaceuticals, Inc. of Ridgefield, Connecticut.

my children?

A Black Parent

Dear Black Parent: Of all the things we can give our children self-esteem is perhaps most important and the elusive.

Confidence in the self-worth as a human being is the bedrock of a happy, productive life. Unlike other qualities that are inherited, a child's self-esteem is largely the result of how parents and other important people in their life respond to them. Strong self-esteem not only protects our children from serious problem such as premature pregnancy and drug abuse, it will open the door to more rewarding careers and satisfying relationships.

Children of the '80s are victims of the drip, drip, drip effect of being ignored or put down by parents under stress.

Building self-esteem is like baking a layer cake. There is no set recipe to follow.

The National Council on Children's Health suggests adopting the following ten strategies as a good start:

1. Listen to your child.
2. Give your child daily chores.
3. Criticize when necessary but be specific.
4. Don't inflate mistakes out of proportion to reality.
5. Watch what you say to and about your children.
6. Tell your children you love them and why.
7. Spend time with your children.
8. Match your expectations with your children's age and ability.
9. Give up your habits which foster a poor self-esteem such as smoking, recreational drugs and excessive drinking.
10. Let your children wrestle with difficult problems.

Metropolitan Okays Legal Action To Block Landfill

Metropolitan Water District agreed to join in a lawsuit to block a landfill expansion that would threaten drinking water supplies in the San Gabriel Valley.

This suit seeks the reversal of a State Water Resources Control Board ruling authorizing tons of garbage to be dumped into gravel pits overlying the Upper San Gabriel Groundwater Basin," Metropolitan General Manager Carl Boronkay said.

"This basin is of vital importance to the valley's one million residents who rely on it for 90 percent of their drinking water," Boronkay said. "It also helps provide drought protection for all Southern California by serving as an important storage reserve for imported water supplies."

"The Upper San Gabriel Basin must be protected from the contamination that this landfill project could produce," Boronkay said.

Today's action joins Metropolitan with local water agencies in the valley in seeking a superior court review of the landfill expansion approved by the state board Oct. 3.

The Azusa Land Reclamation Company, a subsidiary of Browning-Ferris Industries, is proposing to expand its existing 80-acre landfill operation in gravel pits north of Interstate 10 in Azusa by an additional 220 acres.

Company officials will rely on an extensive system of protective plastic liners to keep contamination from leaking into the groundwater basin. Browning-Ferris also has offered $20.5 million in cash for the construction of water treatment plants to remove existing pollutants from water pumped from the basin.

Boronkay, however, said these concessions do not adequately protect the groundwater from expanded waste disposal activities.

"Our experts have testified that any lining system will eventually fail and that contamination will percolate into underground water supplies. There are safer locations to dispose of tons of garbage than directly over a vital source of drinking water," Boronkay said.

"Metropolitan provides water service through its 27 member public agencies to more than 14.7 million Southern Californians in Ventura, Los Angeles, Orange, San Diego, Riverside and San Bernardino counties.

National Diabetes Awareness Month

Riverside-November is National Diabetes Month, and the Inland Empire Chapter of the American Diabetes Association is launching major public education programs to reach those who may be at risk for this serious disease. Diabetes affects 11 million Americans, and almost 40 percent of those who have it, do not know it.

People can find out if they are at risk for diabetes by answering a few simple questions. Short written self test, related to the symptoms and risk factors of diabetes are available through the local Inland Empire Chapter. Those scoring high on the test are urged to contact their physician for medical evaluation.

The National Diabetes Awareness Month focuses on more healthy lifestyles for all Americans. Everyone is encouraged to eat healthier and exercise regularly, since the risk of developing the most common form of diabetes is much higher who are overweight. Dollars Received For New Riverside County Hospital

The dream for a new facility for Riverside General Hospital has become reality. County Lease Revenue Bonds to finance the new hospital were sold in New York recently.

Obtaining capital financing for the replacement hospital project has been a major challenge with the county, taking many years to accomplish. The financial plan for this project received top honors and distinction from the California Association of Public Hospitals. The Highest Distinction Annual Innovators Award was presented formally to Riverside County recently at the California Association of Public Hospital's Annual Conference in Newport Beach. Selection for this award was made by a nationwide panel of experts who did the evaluation of projects submitted.

Representatives, from the First Boston Corporation, symbolically presented a facsimile check in the amount of $195 million to the County Board of Supervisors at the October 24, 1989, Board of Supervisor's meeting. This dollar amount is the largest amount ever borrowed by Riverside County for any single project. Riverside County now has the funds in a Trusteed Escrow Account for the single purpose of paying for the design, construction and equipping of the new hospital. Completion is projected to occur by December 1993. Plans are to replace the current obsolete 270,000 sq. ft. Riverside General Hospital facility with a state-of-the-art 487,000 sq. foot facility to be constructed within the city of Moreno Valley.

Southern California Gas Co. Sends Employees To Assist With Northern California Quake Repairs

Southern California Gas Co. employees from this area are part of a workforce of 240 employees sent to earthquake-damaged regions of northern California to help restore natural gas service.

"This represents 10 percent of the gas company's entire field service force," said Arnold Dickson, gas company district manager. "This has caused us to delay answering some routine requests for service from our own customers."

The employees were drawn from the utility's nine divisions located throughout southern California.

Pacific Gas and Electric (PG&E) flew the first 30 SoCalGas field personnel up north late Wednesday. Each worker was equipped with a leakage detection unit and was sent to the heavily damaged Marina district of San Francisco to assist in restoring natural gas service.

Another 210 SoCalGas service representatives left Wednesday and Thursday in gas company vehicles to assist PG&E. They were assigned throughout all areas damaged by San Francisco's quake.

"Under a mutual assistance program between SoCalGas and PG&E, every effort is made to provide manpower and equipment needed during emergencies," the gas company official said. "In the event of a disaster in our area, we could call on them to help."

Question & Answers

Rev. Reginald Woods

Which Translation Of The Bible Is The Best

QUESTION: Dear Pastor Woods, I recently got saved and I've started to read my bible that my parents gave me when I was a child. It is a King James Version. I have some friends that use other types of Bibles, like the New International Version and the Amplified Version. They recommend that I use what they use. I don't understand the differences, which one is the best?

S.L., Riverside, CA
ANSWER: Let's first back track to the fact the Bible was written in different languages: Hebrew, Arabic, and Greek. These were the languages of the people during the time the Bible was written. What we have in the English is translated from the original languages.

The most popular English version of the Bible is the King James Version. This version was first published in the year of 1611. That was 378 years ago. The English language has gone through various transitions since that time. For example - normally we do not speak with "thees and thous" and "whence and herethereto". In the attempt to modernize the Bible newer translations of the Bible have been published to meet the needs of our modern society. The American Standard Version - 1901, The Revised Standard - 1929, The Amplified - 1958, The New American Standard - 1970, The New International Version - 1973. All of these are "translations" from the original writings. The King James Version, though the language is archaic, it still meets the need of most Christians. There are small discrepancies between the various translations. Ultimately, the translation that meets your needs is the one you should read. More than likely you will come to appreciate several translations.

Whatever translation you choose, realize that God's Word will change your life. It has power to reach deep within you and draw you closer to God (Hebrews 4:12, 2nd Timothy 3:16).

Also, realize that there are Bibles that are "translations" (all of the ones mentioned previously) and there are Bibles that are "paraphrases" (examples: The Living Bible; Good News for Modern Man). A "translation" is the result of the work of scholars that have researched the original languages. A "paraphrase" is the Bible written in the words of man and interpreted based on what man thinks a passage is attempting to say. For study sake, stick with a good translation. Paraphrases are for leisurely reading.

If you have a question that you would like answered, write: Pastor Reginald Woods, Life Changing Ministries, P.O. Box 449, San Bernardino, CA 92402.

Prepayment College Plan A Viable Solution To Increasing Educational Costs For Your Children

Jarvis Christian College announces a solution concern of families everywhere--how to pay for a college education for their children and grandchildren. In the last ten years, educational cost have risen over an average of 9 percent annually. Future tuition and fee increases are unavoidable reality if colleges and universities are to continue to provide the caliber of education students demand and deserve. Recognizing the problems this presents for families who are trying to plan for future college education, Jarvis Christian College has implemented a tuition prepayment plan which would allow alumni and friends everywhere to purchase future education at today's prices.

A prepayment account can be opened for a future student of any age with as little as $1,000. Additional prepayments can be made at any time in amounts of $100 or more. There are no sales charges--every dollar prepaid purchases future education at current tuition and fee levels.

All prepayments funds are placed in the College Prepayment Fund, a balanced, no-load socially conscious mutual fund managed by Kemper Assets Management Company. Participating colleges and universities across the country guarantee today's prepayments will cover a proportionate amount of tuition and fees in the future. For example, one year of tuition and fees prepaid today guarantees one year of tuition and fees in the future.

The College Prepayment Fund is Extremely flexible. Michael St. John's Confidential File

Hello America! There is something terribly wrong when JIM BAKKER can be sentenced to a 45 year term and OLIVER NORTH can walk free. Of course, Bakker committed some awful deeds, but what politician or public figure hasn't. His TV followers obviously received enormous benefits from his ministerial services - no one put a gun to their heads to send money to support his numerous projects. I would like someone to produce one religion or organization that doesn't have a slightly corrupt aspect to it.

This point of view doesn't negate the fact that Bakker should be penalized, he did break the law. But 45 years! Really, that's a bit much in the light that murderers receive 12 or 14 year sentencing. Something is extremely off-center when this can happen.

Again, a judge as been given the opportunity to play God, and he has done it very convincingly. Over-kill can never be accepted, even in this current tainted system.

The rumor that MIKE TYSON is seeing his former wife ROBIN GIVENS is not an earth-shaking revelation. Even though the champ has said on various occasions that it was over between them he never-the-less has attempted to make contact with the actress.

DON KING, Tyson's manager has continually tried to warn him of his lack of wisdom when it comes to Givens. Obviously, it fell on deaf ears. As for Robin, she has always claimed that she wanted to remain friends with Tyson, but I'm sure not for the same reasons. Should their relationship become constant, it would create more publicity which she seems to love. Although stones were thrown at her by the press worldwide, her career did not suffer. As a matter-of-fact, Robin starred in a TV movie of the Week because of all the notoreity. And being the ambitious animal she is, Robin will do almost anything to reach a level of stardom, she deeply desires.

In the meantime, Tyson is playing the field and secretly yearning for a replay with his ex-wife. One inside source told me that Mike would never remarry Givens, but she was always an exciting challenge, and that it is what he likes. For goodness sake - haven't you learned that Givens' bite is nearly lethal? Just a concerned suggestion.

Even though the film "VAMP" wasn't a very good picture, it never-the-less brought

After 7 Taking The "Heat" On The Road In Debut Concert Tour

Hitting the mark with their first single, "Heat Of The Moment," which went to No.4 on the Billboard Black Singles chart and is now rapidly climbing the pop charts and being blasted on airwaves around the country, Virgin recording artists After 7 are about to embark on their first concert tour. This sexy trio, whose self-titled debut album has become a favorite of porgrammers, with album cuts such as the saucy "One Night" and mellow "Can't Stop" being played in heavy rotation, have already delighted the audiences of such TV shows as Soul Train and Showtime At The Apollo. Now, Kevon, Melvin, and Keith are ready to show their stuff live. The tour kicks off on November 6th in New Haven, Connecticut and ends December 10th in Miami, Florida. They will perform Tuesday, November 21 at the Roxy in Los Angeles and will be back again on Sunday, November 26 at the same place.

After 7 will be performing primarily solo dates in nightclubs around the country. In Chicago they will open for none other than Smokey Robinson at the Regal Theater, while other major theater dates include opening for Big Daddy Kane, Allyson Williams, Regina Belle, Peabo Bryson and Entouch.

The group has just returned from Los Angeles where they taped the video for their second single, "Don't Cha Think," which was released just recently. They are currently in their hometown of Atlanta rehearsing for their upcoming tour.

Poems Wanted For Contest And Anthology

A grand prize of $500 is being offered by Sparrowgrass Poetry Forum Inc. in its new "Distinguished Poet Awards" poetry contest. Thirty-four other cash awards are also being offered. The contest is free to enter.

Poets may enter one poem only, 20 lines or less, on any subject, in any style. Contest closes January 31, 1990, but poets are encouraged to send their work as soon as possible, since poems entered in the contest also will be considered for publication in Treasured Poems of America, a hardcover anthology. Anthology purchase may be required to insure publication, but is not required to be eligible for the prizes. Prize winners will be notified by March 31, 1990.

"We are looking for sincerity and originality in a wide variety of styles and themes," says William H. Trent, editor. "You do not have to be an experienced poet to enter or win."

Poem should be sent to Sparrowgrass Poetry Forum, Inc., Dept. N, 203 Diamond St., Box 193, Sistersville, WV 26175.

us GRACE JONES. She was delightful - who cares if she is not much of an actress. The lady has a distinctive personality on the screen, like so many of our legendary film stars i.e., Garbo and Veronica Lake. Now she is being pursued by Italian producers to star in quite a few motion pictures.

"Believe it or not," Jones said, "I've been asked to play Madea of all things. Naturally, it would be exciting, but it would all depend on the adaption they would present to me. I could never do the original - it would be foolish to even consider. But a story based on that marvelous play, yes, I would like it. The other scripts have been running naked and throwing men out of windows. But time will tell - I'll know when the right thing comes along."

When I wrote in a recent column about ETHEL and didn't mention a last name, I received letters asking who she is. Well, Ethel happens to be my car. I named it this in honor of the late star ETHEL WATERS with whom I worked in the play "Member of the Wedding." During this period, she was always pretending to be ill or halfway dying, even when we were on stage. She loved the reaction from the audience who were aware of her bad heart. No matter how ill she "seemed" to be in a scene, she would always manage to play it to the hilt. Once the curtain dropped, there was thunderous applause in the theatre, not only for her wonderful performance, but just making it through the play. Afterwards, Ethel would walk off the stage like a bull, ready to trample anybody who got in her way. This is the nature of my car. It jugs along as if it were going to die on me, but gets me where I want to go each time. Of course, it might help if I remembered to put the right kind of gas into it as well. Wee that's it America - and goodbye J.J. wherever you are!

Blue Palm To Perform "Dance Talks"

Riverside-Blue Palm, the internationally acclaimed dance team of Jacqueline Planeix and Thomas Crocker, will present their unique blend of modern dance, ballet, theatre, voice, and rhythm in a performance of "Dance Talks" Nov. 10 at 8 p.m. in the Dance Studio Theatre at the University of California, Riverside.

Tickets are $5 general admission and $3 for students, and are available through the Fine Arts Ticket Office (phone 787-4331) or at the door. The Dance Studio Theatre is located in the UCR Physical Education Building.

"Dance Talks" is a choreographic satire of myths, beliefs, and cliches about dance and what it means to be a dancer. "It is fast moving and very funny," said Fred Strickler, chair of UCR's Program in Dance. "They use a lot of vocal element in their performance." Planeix and Crocker are graduates of Maurice Bejart's MUDRA school of dance in Brussels and are former soloist with Bejart's Ballet of the Twentieth Century. They were also soloist at the Grand Theatre de Geneve in Switzerland, under the direction of the Argentine choreographer Oscar Araiz, and have toured throughout Europe, Asia, North and South America and the Middle East.

The dancers are serving as artist-in-residents at UC Riverside, providing special instruction to students of dance. The residency, co-sponsored by the Dance Department of Riverside Community College, includes master classes in which students produce video portraits of themselves as artist through both choreographic and verbal articulation. The individual segments will be combined as a documentary.

often held at the library. Tutors receive the training before they are matched with a student. A unique feature of the program is that computers are used to assist the one-to-one tutoring, hence the name MicroRead. Learners move at their own pace, using materials supplied by the library and library books. There are no

A Time For Self Expression: I believe our Lord and Master makes this entire universe meaningful and there is a time and place for all. By this I am saying that there is a need, a place, a requirement for every human being on earth. We are the ones that choose how we would like to live because we were given that ability. God is the supreme being that gives us a choice. We can be happy, sad, mean, kind, and develop into any type of person that we feel comfortable with. When a person makes drug dealing or use their choice, they are turning their back on the many wonderful things God has placed at our disposal and choose that hard life. A person that does this is making up their own laws.

God gave us some laws to live by in order to live a complete happy life. It is written if we follow his rules, we will have everything we need to live a successful life. God also is a forgiving God. we all fall short to the total of human behavior pattern outlined in the Bible.

Therefore, I will continue to use the talents God gave me to serve mankind. Meanwhile I will do my best to display love, compassion, and forgiving spirit that is required to live a christian life as long as I am on this earth.

Cherish your ideas, cherish the music that makes you happy, that person that gives and return respect to you, out of them will develop a wonderful

Ramos Appointed To Top SBA Post

Washington, D.C.—Susan Engeleiter, Administrator of the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA), recently announced the appointment of Frank M. Ramos, a veteran manager and minority small business advocate, to direct the agency's management and administrative operations.

"I want to build an innovative and efficient management system at SBA, to better serve America's small business community," Engeleiter said. "I am pleased to have Frank Ramos on our team. He will play a key role in accomplishing this goal."

As SBA's associate deputy administrator for management and administration, Ramos will oversee the development and management of the agency's budget, accounting, personal, equal employment opportunity, and procurement and control review systems.

Ramos' career has been devoted to governmental management, including various positions with the IRS in Fresno, California, and Phoenix, Ariz. Prior to joining SBA, Ramos served as chief of the tax accounts division of the IRS in Fresno.

Active in his community, Ramos has served as vice president of the National Economic Development Agency of the San Joaquin Valley, a non-profit organization for minority entrepreneurs whose clients were awarded a presidential citation; president of the Central California Hispanic Chamber of Commerce; and a member of the Board of Directors of the Big Brothers/Big Sisters organization.

He received a Presidential citation for developing minority business, and has been commended by his local school board for his assistance in combatting the high dropout rate among Hispanic children.

Mothers For Race Unity and Equality

Mothers For Race Unity and Equality is hosting a talk on Multi-Cultural Education by Dr. Estaban Diaz, a professor at Cal State University San Bernardino. Special guest include: Miss Holly Mitchell Representative for Senator Diane Watson, Dale Roberts Assistant Administrator for Riverside Unified School District and Statewide Chairman of the Black Students Union, Joe Bacca heads a program for Minority role models to give presentations in schools.

The program will be held at Riverside Public Library 3581 7th Street, upstairs in the auditorium on November 18th, 1989, Saturday, at 2:00 PM.

The purpose of the organization is to bring about racial peace and to raise the human standard so that all people may benefit. Racial conflict comes from a lack of appreciation and understanding of the diversity among people and cultures. A brighter more productive future is essential for all of us. This future is assured if we look at the variations in our cultures and color as something to learn from and enjoy, rather than it being the cause of our estrangement, hatred and war. LeNise Jackson-Gaertner mother of five bi-racial children founded this organization only two months ago as a means of addressing the problems stemming from racial prejudice which effect minority children. LeNise is the sister of Civil Rights Activist Mr. Don Carlos Jackson.

Riverside Diabetes Treatment Center To Celebrate 5th Anniversary

The Diabetes Treatment Center at Riverside Community Hospital will celebrate its 5th Anniversary at an open house for the general public, Sunday, November 12th, from 1-4, center officials have announced.

Charlotte Hodge, Director of Operations at the Diabetes Treatment Center, said the free blood sugar screenings - a procedure for detecting if a person may have diabetes - will be offered at the open house.

"There are perhaps 16,000 people in our area who have diabetes or its symptoms, but half are unaware of what is happening to them because the symptoms have not reached the danger point," few minutes and requires just a single drop of blood, will indicate if a person should seek medical confirmation as to whether he or she has diabetes."

"We hope our open house will create increased awareness of diabetes," said Charlotte Hodge. "With proper treatment, most people with diabetes have the opportunity to lead otherwise normal happy lives."

Riverside Community Hospital is located at 4445 Magnolia Avenue, for further information call 714-788-3491.

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA COUNTY OF RIVERSIDE
No. A-11962

CITATION TO APPEAR

In the matter of the petition of Thomas Bennett Stevens on behalf of Danny Eugene Betts a minor
The people of the State of California to Danny Eugene Washington.
By order of this court, you are cited and required to appear before Department 9 of the above-entitled Court on December 5, 1989 at 9:00 a.m., then and there to show cause, if any you have, why Danny Eugene Betts, a minor, should not be declared free from your parental control according to the petition on file herein to free the minor for adoption.
The address of the court is: 4050 Main Street, Riverside, CA.
For a failure without reasonable cause to appear and abide by the order of the court, you will be deemed guilty of a contempt of court.

The following information concerns rights and procedures which relate to this proceeding for the termination of custody and control of Danny Eugene Betts as set forth in Section 237.5 of the Civil Code.
(1) At the beginning of the proceeding the court will consider whether or not the interests of Danny Eugene Betts require the appointment of counsel. If the court finds that the interest of Danny Eugene Betts do require such protection, the court will appoint counsel to represent him, whether or not he is able to afford counsel. Danny Eugene Betts will not be present in court unless he so requests or the court so orders.

(2) If a parent of Danny Eugene Betts appears without counsel and is unable to afford counsel, the court must appoint counsel for the parent, unless the parent knowingly and intelligently waives the right to be represented by counsel. The court will not appoint the same counsel to represent both Danny Eugene Betts and his parents.
(3) The court may appoint either the public defender or private counsel. If private counsel is appointed, he or she will receive a reasonable sum for compensation and expenses, the amount of which will be determined by the court. That amount must be paid by the real parties in interest, but not by the minor, in such proportions as the court believes to be just. If however, the court finds that any of the real parties in interest cannot afford counsel, the amount will be paid by the court.
(4) The court may continue the proceeding for not more than 30 days as necessary to appoint counsel and to enable counsel to become acquainted with the case.
